JUNE 1953

FOREST HILLS, NEW YORK

DR. LEO R. RYAN

Dear Friends:

May I congratulate you upon attaining your graduation from high school and compliment you upon the fine scholastic and activity record you maintained while at Forest Hills. I am sure that you will give most generous recognition to the unselfishness of your parents who, by their devotion and help, have contributed in such large measure to your success.

I wish you success in whatever field you are now embracing and may you offer to the fulfillment of your future careers a wholesomeness of purpose and an integrity of character without which material success is of little importance.

Sincerely yours,

Leo R. Ryan

Class History

It was on a bright September morning in 1949 that a mob numbering over five hundred trooped through the sacred portals of Forest Hills High School, their home for the next four, or possibly more, years. They plodded along, clutching in their moist little hands the postcards on which their names had been inscribed. They also carried the incriminating evidence that really marked them as "Freshmen": the big blue Home Contact Cards that stuck out like sore thumbs.

When their shaking could be controlled they spoke thus:

"What school are you in?"

"Forest Hills High School, of course."

"Don't you know that Forest Hills is divided into three schools: Forest, Hill, and Park? Now what school are you in?"

"379."

After the first few weeks of buying swimming pool passes, floor spots in the gymnasium and elevator passes, threats of washing the Senior Staircase with a toothbrush, and cringing at the sight of dreaded marshals, we settled down to the slow process of making our imprint on the school.

When October rolled around, some of the Big Time Operators of the class put on their Sunday best, and after sufficient prodding by the parents, got up enough nerve to ask "that cute young thing" in General Science to "Black Magic," the first dance of the season. The dance was the debut of the freshmen in school social life. And then, on a cold mid-December night, the curtain rose on Play Pro's production of "Arsenic and Old Lace," something that very few of our freshman drama critics will ever forget.

In the first year, the impression the freshmen made was faint, but we were acquiring the Forest Hills tradition.

Irwin Schmalberg and Harry Friedland, interviewed by a Beacon reporter, said Lunch was their favorite period and the girls were pretty. A girl interviewed at the same time said Lunch was her favorite period and the boys were horrible.

Our first year was over and we were looking forward to the peaceful summer ahead of us.

The summer was far from the peaceful one that we had hoped for, as war had broken out in Korea and once again our country was battling to keep democracy safe.

Sophomore Year

"The Fabulous Five Hundred" were augmented by three hundred novices from junior high school. The extra-curricular activities were banned, but that didn't keep us big wise sophomores down too much, although it did perhaps hinder us from showing the school how versatile we really were.

In December a concert was given and members of our class were prominent in both the orchestra and the band. Martin Yudell, our class nightingale, was made a member of the All City Chorus, and Louise Falcetti of the All City Orchestra. Our first election made Herbert Henschel a senate representative. David Kissinger copped a prize in the G.O. talent show with his hot trumpet playing. Pierre Sprey won a scholarship to a French drama group and Mitch Zucker was sent to a Junior Red Cross convention as a representative of our school.

That year in the assembly the class saw two plays: "As You Like It" and "A Christmas Carol."

Junior Year

Our songbirds Lottie Glauber and Pieter Wijdenes inaugurated our Junior Year by singing with the All City Chorus.

In March, Anya Fourman won second prize in a city-wide contest, "What the Bill of Rights Means to You."

April was the month of the "Roaring Twenties" appropriately produced by the P.T.A. Many of our classmates demonstrated their talents in this show, which was brilliantly emceed by George Porges. A month later, Play Pro presented the delightful "Out of the Frying Pan" in which Judy Hyman and Eddie Stern distinguished themselves.

The pleasures of our Easter vacation were dimmed by the tragic death of Tony Herbert, who would have been graduated with us this June.

Commemorating Music Week, the first week in May, the Band, Chorus, and Orchestra combined their talents to present a Music Festival. Later that month the Orchestra made its television debut, with Morton Gould as guest conductor.

Excitement ran high during the G.O. elections. Mitch Zucker became G.O. President; Mike Glantz, vice president; Iris Soloff, secretary; and Stan Sulzer and Carl Hochman, Hill and Forest School presidents respectively.

F.H.H.S. students were enlightened by the phenomenal award-winning series, "Are You Ready for the Service?" A forum discussion of the picture, with Marian Bachrach, Debbie Berlatsky, Bradley Davis, and Joan Goldhirsch participating, followed.

In the month before summer vacation, something called school spirit climbed noticeably for the first time since the resumption of extra-curricular activities. Forest Hills became aware of its bowling team, with members Luddie Gottlieb, Dave Goldman, Jay Stekler and Al Mohr, and of its fencing team, in which Len Charney, Dick Everett and Don Gellers were doing a more than competent job.

The new editors on the Beacon managing board were Anne Bartlett, Miriam Kaplan, Paul Karan and Nina Schick. All of them had worked their way up through the positions of either assistant or associate editors.

Hardened by our first three-year language Regents, we anticipated our . . .

Senior Year

Starting us off with a bang, Art Fertman won second prize in the Fisher Body's model car competition.

The presidential elections found Eleanor Andewelt distributing carloads of "IKE" buttons to everyone(?).

In this, our final year, the major assignments for Irene Nowikas, history reporter for the Beacon, were the Junior UNESCO Conference, Victor Besso's victory in the city-wide "I Speak for Democracy" contest, and the selection of Marian Bachrach as honorary chairman of the Mirror Youth Forum.

Play Pro presented "Three for the Money," a series of one act plays, stage-managed by Eddie Langbein and business-managed by Eda Green. Features were: Eddie Stern, Beverly Baumann, and Greta Kerr in "Trial by Moonlight"; Dick Mead as the condemned man in "The Valiant"; and comedian Billy Chiswick in "The Wedding."

Aside from our thespians, the track team—Erv Philipps, Paul Karan, John Fistere, Art Fertman, Marshall Fox, Jack McElroy, Eric Dattner, and "Little" Siegal—distinguished itself by winning five trophies.

Lynn Carruthers showed her artistic talent by winning second prize in an art poster competition. The St. Gaudens award for art was presented to Stephanie Woods.

In the first month of '53, the Engineering Club, with seniors Steven Leickhart, Harry Margolies, and Gregory Whitlinger was awarded first place in the 16th Annual School Science Fair. Arthur Pearlmutter's study of meteors earned him third place in the National Westinghouse Science Competition.

Janet Chace and Judy Levine were accepted as representatives from F.H.H.S. to the All-City Chorus, while Judy Krumbein made the All-City Orchestra.

During the basketball season, the unpredictable F.H. Rangers, under the able management of Dick Mead, ran rampant, bringing the North Shore Championship to Forest Hills. On this sparkling team were seniors Carl Hochman, John Breeskin, Al Mohr, Lennie Ginsberg, Jerry Portnoy, Morty Beer, Dick Wachtell, Rocky Basile, and Elliot Reinhardt.

While our boys were chalking up victories, the Leaders' Club held its semi-annual elections, with Nancy Shaffer gaining the presidency. Marsha Tendler, Greta Savitt, and Mary Nelson were elected members of the governing body.

On the memorable day of February 1, 1953, we, the members of the graduating class, inherited from our noble predecessors, the alienable rights of being called "Seniors." The most prominent of our reserved honors was the exclusive (?) right of walking on the Senior Staircase.

At the beginning of the term, the 777 new seniors filed into the auditorium to hold their first meeting and to meet their newly-elected officers: Erv Philipps, president, and Grace Erber, Anita Glass, Dave Kissinger, George Porges, Nina Schick, and Eddie Stern, officers.

Mr. Bartlett caused excitement to run high as he rushed to complete the Senior ratings. Standing first in the class, Pierre Sprey was chosen to be valedictorian. Sonja Frenkel and Herb Strauss were second and third, respectively.

The Prom Committee had its first eventful meeting in March of '53. The Terrace Room of the Plaza, just off Central Park, was suggested as an ideal spot.

Play Pro's presentation of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" highlighted our last few months at Forest Hills High.

Interrupting study for Regents, Senior Day dawned; it provided an outlet for four years of frustrations and inhibitions.

In June, 1953, we attained the ultimate goal of all students, receiving our diplomas and completing a cycle which may be repeated in college, but never duplicated.

Tony Herbert '53

A quiet pool of sadness lies
Amidst us on this day
And, though youth be gay and reckless,
Youth remembers him today.

FRESHMEN –

Four years and seven days ago, we entered the Institution of Forest Hills as unusually fresh freshmen characterized by our impudence and dedicated to becoming big wheels in order to establish justice in the cutting office, insure domestic tranquillity in the cafeteria, provide for the common defense on the staircase, promote the general welfare in the emergency room, and secure the blessings of education for ourselves.

SOPHOMORES –

We have accepted the facts, and nobly await our chances to defend ourselves against the insidious wiles of a government of the seniors, by the seniors, and for the seniors.

JUNIORS –

With malice toward all and charity for none, with firmness in our step, we advanced toward the Senior Staircase.

SENIORS –

We hold these youths to be self-confident: that all seniors are created superior; that we are endowed by our teachers with certain inalienable blights; that among these are Math, Chemistry, and Senior Dues.

Freshman: "Comedy of Errors"
Sophomore: "Much Ado About Nothing"
Junior: "As You Like It"
Senior: "All's Well That Ends Well"

Freshman: "I don't know."
Sophomore: "I'm not prepared."
Junior: "I don't quite remember."
Senior: "I don't believe I can add to what's already been said."

BOY'S VIEWPOINT –

Freshman: "I'm starting to save for the Prom now."
Sophomore: "Gee, it's only three years away!"
Junior: "It's expensive, but we only graduate once."
Senior: "All that money on a blind date?"

Freshman: "The Monroe Doctrine was a document showing a clear policy of isolation by the United States."
Sophomore: "The Monroe Doctrine showed a clear policy of isolation."
Junior: "The Monroe Doctrine showed a policy."
Senior: "Marilyn or Vaughn?"

Freshman: "This book is very interesting."
Sophomore: "I like it."
Junior: "It's Okay."
Senior: "z-z-z-z-z-z-z-z-z."

GIRL'S VIEWPOINT –

Freshman: "I wonder if I'll get asked to the Prom."
Sophomore: "Been going steady for six months."
Junior: "Better meet someone soon."
Senior: "My kid brother has a friend."

Last Will and Testament

We, the graduating class of June 1953, our senior hats battered with use, our buttons dull from wear, our diplomas freshly inked, and our futures shining brightly before us, do, in the hope that the next proud wearers of the senior pin will execute our wishes, hereby bequeath

TO:

Mr. Wilson.....1000 perfectly balanced equations.
Mr. Kernan.....The light of the Beacon.
Miss Fimpel.....An all purpose, deluxe, A-no.-1 vacuum cleaner.
Mr. Bartlett.....A gold plated, diamond-studded bicycle clip.
Mr. Kerr ..... "P-R-O-J-E-C-T-I-O-N"
Mrs. Dineen..All the money A and B made working faster than C.
Mr. Ritchie.....A Scotch kilt; also a woman of mystery.
Mr. Palleri.....Some boys that are also nice.
Miss Doran.....A perfect set of diacritical marks.
Mr. Wigler.....A book of his memoirs.
Dr. Entin.....A class of deep and profound thinkers.
Miss Farley....We leave — as we should have entered — quietly.
Mr. Bernstein A 3-dimensional blackboard to teach solid geometry.
Mr. Starrs.....A picture of Tony Curtis.
Mr. Meade.....A U.N. contestant who wins first place.
Mike.....A newsstand.
To the Freshies.....The swiming pool, free elevator passes, and the fifth floor.
To the Science Teachers.....A mixture of sulphuric acid, sodium hydroxide, nitric acid, TNT, plus a match to make things merry.

And in conclusion, to the next writers of the Last Will and Testament we leave an original idea.

Class Prophecy

Forest Hills — June 1973. There was a welter of confusion as the class of June 1953 congregated about the flagpole of F.H.H.S. for the first reunion in twenty years. Everyone was anxious to see what changes had taken place in the dear old Alma Mater, and what their classmates had been up to since graduation. When the last helicopter was parked on the rear campus, we made our move for the front door.

The first surprise came when we were met at the door by the new principal, the ever smiling Mitch Zucker. He was accompanied by his private secretary, Iris Soloff. Mitch and Iris expressed delight at seeing their old friends again, and suggested that we hold a general meeting at Hochman Hall, the new gymnasium named after Carl Hochman, who surpassed his high school efforts by becoming the outstanding player on the winning U. S. Olympic Basketball Team. The entire class showed amazement over the new scoring board, invented by Art Fertman, which automatically scores four points for every F.H.H.S. basket. Our shorter alumni gazed with admiration at the ropes with footholds, and the stirruped "horses".

Mitch Zucker then introduced Alice Vassalo, head of the department of school spirit, who gave a cheer and announced that we were going on a grand tour of the school. Feeling more at home, we rushed to the door and scurried out into the spacious corridors of good old F.H.H.S.

Our first stop turned out to be the Marshals' office, where Rocco Basile held sway. Rocco, connected with the Marshal Squad for nigh on to twenty-four years, spoke of the robots that were around the building to check passes and run errands. These robots, he said, were the combined work of the Marshal Squad and Dr. Herbert Strauss, professor of physical science at the University of the World.

Our next stop was the Boys' Health Education Department, where James (Cookie) Grossman presided. It was interesting to note that the traditional black sweater of the department had been replaced by white bucks and sloppy brown jackets.

Taking the overland route to the girls' gym, we dropped in to see that famous old character actor, Edwin Stern, who now, as director of Play Pro, was putting on a revival of the smash hit of twenty years ago, "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

As we approached the girls' gym we could hear the strains of a rhumba band. Peeking in the door we were amazed to see Nancy Shaffer, head of the Girls' Health Education Department, dancing with that old pro, Joel Handler. Nancy explained that she had hired Joe to teach the girls a few basic steps.

Hearing the new six-minute chimes, we all scurried out of the gym into the new Beacon Office where we were not too surprised to find Paul Karan the new faculty advisor. We did not want to disturb Paul, for he was busily engaged in giving a policy talk to a group of eager young reporters. We noticed that the walls of the office were decorated with full length pictures of Nadine DeBellis, and Alice Simon, now reporters on the Tribune, and Irene Nowikas, foreign correspondent for the Times.

We slipped quietly away to the G.O. office where we met Mike Glantz, faculty advisor of the G.O., who was going over the small gold mine collected at the last G.O. dance. At his shoulder was Anita Glass, the school treasurer, who was busily checking the small horde.

Asking one of Mr. Basile's robots we found that the senior escalator had been extended to the basement, so we rode right up to the second floor where we proceeded to the library. We were met there by Rochelle Katz, chief librarian, who began to deliver a short lecture on the comparative uses of the horizontal and vertical files, and the significance of the Dewey Decimal System. We noticed fondly that the library was the only place that was just as we had left it twenty years ago.

Leaving the library, we approached Faculty Row where the heads of department hold forth. We found them all in the French office, in a nostalgic mood with Stephen Saloman gayly shouting, "Vive La France." Joining in the spirit of the occasion we were overjoyed to see Nina Schick of the English Department, Bob Weiss of the Math Department, Brad Davis of the Social Studies Department, Mimi Kaplan, Susan Jospe, and Pierre Sprey of the Biological and Physical Science Departments, and Elizabeth Matz and Stephanie Woods, co-heads of the Art Department. Chairman of the Commercial courses was Mary Shaffler while Barbara Suter was the new School Treasurer.

We left this happy scene and headed toward the mysterious fourth floor, and the tower. Upon reaching this height we were happy to see George Porges conducting a combined orchestra and band.

Sensing an air of surpressed excitement, our gaze drifted upward where we were astonished to see Arthur Pearlmutter at the very top of the tower, at work on F.H.H.S.'s first telescope.

Always having wondered about the old swimming pool myth we spied a likely looking door and swarming through, discovered a large sign which said, "Under Construction—Barry Leeds Swimming Pool. Keep Out." So we did.

Feeling in need of a little rest we started down to the auditorium getting the surprise of our lives when our eyes were caught by a glass enclosed terrace that certainly hadn't been there twenty years ago. Inquiring about this phenomenon, we learned that Don Gellers, Republican State Senator from New York, with the aid of Joan Boglia, first woman District Attorney, had finally succeeded in establishing a Roof Garden at F.H.H.S. Following a generous dose of Forest Hills' sunshine, we again boarded the escalator and headed for the auditorium where speeches and entertainment were next on the agenda.

Sinking back into the red plush cushions and adjusting the tilt, we fixed our attention on the platform, where Dick Mead, the Assistant Principal, was introducing several guest speakers. Vic Besso, who had written, produced, directed, and starred in several hit radio shows, spoke on the importance of the continued use of earphone radios in the study hall. Anne Bartlett, first woman editor of the Herald Tribune, gave a short talk on, "Should the Marines get out of Nicaragua?" Marion Bachrach and Deborah Berlatsky, chairman and vice-chairman of the U.S.'s envoy to the U.N. debated on the topic, "Is the U.N. without a doubt?"

Dick then introduced a few sports celebrities: Erv Philipps, 100 meter sprint champ and Marshall Fox, top half miler. Ronnie Dean, famous "All-Pro" Tackle, filled the audience with awe as he described his off tackle mousetrap play, with illustrations.

George Feibusch, that slugging outfielder for the Yankees, and Marty Lipton, shortstop for the Dodgers, spoke of the clean living and health conditions of the athletes on their respective teams. The long and short of the N. Y. Knicks, John Breeskin and Al Mohr gave us a demonstration on the manly art of dribbling. Ronnie Rosenberg, and Dick Salpeter, famous sports writers, spoke a few words, and that ended the speeches for the day. The audience applauded their heroes and friends, settling back for some lighter entertainment.

Rita Aprahamian, Janet Chace, and Lottie Glauber, all of the Metropolitan Opera House, sang a few selections to the great delight of the audience. They were followed by those two famous ballet artists, Charlotte Blumberg, and Anabel Stresino.

A very special treat was in store for the audience next. Judy Hyman, taking a holiday from her seven year run on Broadway, appeared in a play written especially for the class of '53 reunion by Sonja Frenkel. Playing opposite Judy, as usual, was Stan Sulzer, also appearing in a hit Broadway play. Besides these stars, the play included Bev Bauman and Greta Kerr, both renowned comediennes, and Barbara Friend, John Fistere, and Lenny Kirschner, all famous Shakespearean actors. The skit was directed by Anne Liebman and Barbara Nelson, who have collaborated in directing at least three major hit plays. Nick Nicholas, the most famous scenic designer of the day was responsible for the set. The excellent make-up job was the work of Jo Dornbush, head make-up girl for Broadway T.V. Theater. Eleanor Andewelt and Roz Rosenberg, head fashion designers for Bonwit Teller, lent their talents to the creation of the beautiful costumes. The audience, thrilled at seeing so many noted personages on the old F.H.H.S. stage, greeted the play with great enthusiasm.

The afternoon's entertainment was brought to a close by the hilarious comedy team of Billy Chiswick, Les Miller and Donny Shiff. Herb Moskowitz, right hand man to Jimmy Fidler, and temporary head of the Alumni Social Committee, announced that food and dancing could be had in the new French Café. We rose with a roar and rushed out, anxious to see the changes in F.H.H.S.'s cafeteria. Upon reaching the lower regions we heard the strains of beautiful music. Entering, we saw Dave Kissinger, Forest Hill's answer to Harry James. We had organized an all star band for the occasion, headlining Bert Fisher on the piano, Jerry Brewer on trombone, Peter Popper on sax, Pete Edles and his guitar, Ray Kalejian on drums, and Chuck Galleger and Barry Tashman helping Dave out on the trumpet. Listening to the band, in deep discussion, were Bob Machover, who helped bebop advance one hundred years in only twenty, and Howie Schulman, the Dixieland advocate who evened off the advance.

The whole class expressed amazement over the changes in the old cafeteria. Tiny tables with red and white checkered table cloths were scattered about the room. We looked at the menu for the next day and saw, "Roast beef, mashed potatoes, green beans and gravy. No more tokens will be sold after tomorrow." We laughed at the "change" in the cafeteria and feeling more at home, we began to dance.

A wave of familiarity came over us as we waved hellos across the room. We thought of all that had happened to us since we had graduated and then, felt that it was only yesterday that we had been dancing together, and not twenty years ago. Stopping to blink the mist of imagination and dreams from our eyes, we realized that it was — only yesterday.

Alumni Association

FOREST HILLS HIGH SCHOOL

To the Class of June 1953:

Congratulations to you all as you reach a milestone — high school graduation. I think it is justifiable pride when, on behalf of Forest Hills' Alumni, I tell you that you are entering the adult world with more than a diploma. You have just spent four of the happiest years of your lives, but they are not really gone. For you, and we, have been so fortunate as to have grown up in an exceptionally fine school. When most of the facts we have learned are forgotten, there will remain memories, ideals, a way of life never quite to be forgotten.

It has become a tradition that every year, just before Christmas we gather at school to renew old friendships and acquaintances. There is always dancing, and refreshments are served. We keep up with the activities of our fellow graduates through the Alumni News. Membership dues in the F.H.H.S. Alumni Association are $1.25 per year or $5.00 for life-time membership. We hope you all will join. Please send us personal news items for the "Alumni News" and inform us of change of address.

I want to thank those faculty members who have so graciously aided our Association, and who have helped to make it the friendly active group it is today. We are very grateful for the continuous help given to us by Dr. Ryan, Mr. Delman and Miss Fulton.

We, who have already crossed from this same graduation platform to the stage of life, sincerely wish you, the class of June 1953, good fortune and happiness in the years ahead.

Sincerely yours,

CHRIS GOLFINOPOULOS
